

AUSTRALIAN MUSLIM WOMEN'S CENTRE FOR HUMAN RIGHTS

Settlement Services for Muslim Women

The Australian Muslim Women's Centre for Human Rights provides settlement services including casework to newly arrived refugee and migrant Muslim women.

Our Casework involves assessment, information provision, referral, advocacy and support regarding a wide range of areas including:

- Housing
- Family violence
- Relationship issues (e.g. separation and divorce)
- Education
- Racism, discrimination, racial vilification
- Health and wellbeing
- Dealing with Centrelink and Employment Services
- Immigration matters
- Mental health, isolation, counselling
- Recreation and social connections
- Legal issues
- Cultural support
- Assistance in accessing emergency relief

How to contact us:

Phone (03) 9481 3000, or

Email casework@muslimwomenscentre.org.au

Our casework is free, confidential and we can assist in any language by accessing an interpreter.

Australian Muslim Women's Centre for Human Rights

Telephone: (03) 9481 3000 Fax: (03) 9481 3001

Email: reception@muslimwomenscentre.org.au

Website: www.ausmuslimwomenscentre.org.au

Australian Government

Department of Social Services